BACKGROUND

1. Technical Field

Page 1, amend paragraph [0001] as follows:

This invention relates to networking from a computer which is arranged to run multiple operating systems.

2. Related Art

In a conventional computer, a network interface card (NIC) is provided, which couples the computer to a network. The NIC is arranged to communicate data over the network according to the network protocols; for example, it may be an Ethernet network interface card. The computer has a physical address on the network (the MAC address).
